Time management is crucial for success and realization of goals. Discuss succinctly on this statement.

ANSWER

In my own words I wish to explain and briefly discuss the topic above.

Firstly, time management is a crucial for success because it aids in prioritizing your daily activities. When one creates a time management template as the case may be the person sets up his goals in other to achieve them within the time frame of his dream. For example a student's wishes to get all A's in all his courses, he then sets up a time management template which could be described as a time table in other to prioritize his activity like how many hours he will need to study to attain his goal for each d to achieve his goal and succeed. This therefore proves that's time management is a crucial aid or skill needed in achieving success and realizing goals.
