Why is time management important?

1. Students get a minimum of one year's time to pass one class. One whole year's time students spend on completing the syllabus, doing homework, giving exams. Some students only start studying seriously when the exam dates are near.

2. Today businessmen, leaders, and freelancers need to take control of their time. All of us are not productive in our 9 to 5 working schedule. Today we're are fighting with time to control it. It's not that easy while there are hundreds of commands being given to us. We are busy but not busy with things that generate values. Today managers try to make their employees productive at the office. Employees are also learning to manage time effectively.

3. During exams, students need to complete the attempted question paper. During exams the time is limited. Within that time, they must prove what they learned in the whole year. Some students have great knowledge and know almost everything about the subject, but they failed to attempt the question paper in 2-3 hours fixed time. That is why managing time for all questions is important. All questions are important to get maximum marks. Students need to understand what question requires more time. How can all 10 or 5 questions be answered in 3 hours' time? Three things are very helpful for students to attempt the question paper.
