The covid -19 pandemic came as a shocker to the whole world which drastically shut down a lot of business, schools, places of worship, travelling rights and so many more. The pandemic was well underestimated which caused severe problems and as which made students to be at home, some being idle and some were being engaged through online lectures.

But as for me the covid -19 really affected so many plans for me but as such I had to improvise at home cause as they say no food for a lazy man. Yes my school (ABUAD) engaged me with online lectures, test in various means which was help full to at least keep me occupied for a period, whereby I also had to be utilize the opportunity of staying at home to help myself in reading up on some note I couldn't understand, yes definitely watching some series.

But most importantly I was able to sharpen I my baking skills, where I learnt new products in baking, I actually improved in my selling of foot wares for both men and women (most especially men). I was able to improve in my report typing to enable me to write good reports for future conducts, I assisted some individuals in creating a website, giving reviews and corrections (whereby I am not really that good in coding which I plan on improving at later stages) so as to enable the website not fall apart .i basically used this period to grab any opportunity I can get to have added knowledge and also to try ad make money which definitely hasn't been easy but it's been a bit fruitful .
