EZENWATA VICTOR CHUMA
17/ENG04/026
Elect/Elect

1. In the first few weeks of these COVID-19 pandemic, I volunteered for humanitarian services. I was able to convince my parents to allow me to participate in helping the society, especially the rural areas in Lagos whilst I still had time for my online studies.

I stopped my services later on and just decided to rest at home for all my time. But I go a sense of laziness, so I decided to do something to keep me busy. Then I decided to learn coding from the internet. I got acquainted with programs like html, Java, python and likes of them. Then I decided to major in python, which isn't so popular in Nigeria but I pursued it either ways.

Conclusively, this a summary of what I did during this COVID-19 pandemic.