Corruption in Nigeria

Corruption is a form of dishonesty or criminal offense undertaken by a person or organization entrusted with a position of authority, to require illicit benefit or is most common in private sector. It is most common in most common place in the world (Oligarchies / rackets - state and mafia states).

In this essay, I will be focusing on the political aspect of corruption in Nigeria. Corruption in Africa has been back to the early times of the Aborigine had formed. Independent and has always been an issue since then although some countries

Corruption measures have been put in place to monitor corruption in Nigeria, the rate of corruption still continues to grow. In 2012, Nigeria was estimated to have lost over $400 billion to corruption since independence. In 2018, Nigeria ranked 144th in the 180 countries listed in

1. Transparency International's Corruption Index.

Corruption in Nigeria has kept Nigeria in a fixed position due to lack of improvement. The Nigerian leaders are known for siphoning funds given to them by the federal government; Payment of ghost workers and other Scams made available to them due to their political positions, thus there for trying to pass given to them.

The problem with the political system is the mindset "to get their share". The only way that mindset can be removed is to teach and educate the future leaders on proper leadership. Another way of mitigating it is by creating a Corruption Control officer Agency in charge of regulating political activities in prevention of corrupt practices and funding agencies like the EFCC. Measure and appropriate punishments
