

Name: Stella Chinecherem FUSEWU - ORISA

Matric Number: 19/mhs01/164

Department: MBBS

College: MHS

TOPIC: MISOGYNY

The term "misogyny" is derived from Ancient Greek word "misogynia" which means hatred towards women. Misogyny has taken shape in multiple forms such as male privilege, patriarchy, gender discrimination, sexual harassment, belittling of women, violence against women and sexual objectification.

The roots of misogyny can be traced back to ancient Greek mythology. As mythology spilled its views about women every religion held their own view point. Women have been blamed for the faults of men since the beginning of human race all the way back to Adam and Eve. Everyone likes to keep all of the blame on to Eve, yet no one recognizes that she was deceived before she persuaded Adam to taste the fruit from the tree of knowledge of good and evil.

"Women are evoked by nature," Joseph Swetnam wrote to him even "the fairest woman has some filthiness in her." Going all the way back to Eve, womankind was "no sooner made but straightway her mind was set upon mischief, for by her aspiring mind and wanton will she quickly procured man's fall, and therefore ever since they are and have been a woe unto man, and follow the line of their first leads." They were like poisonous stores.

because their hearts were filled with holes, he wrote, like painted ships because they looked pretty but contained only lead.

Misogyny over years has evolved as an ideology which has engulfed the society as a dog among which diminishes their site to avarice.
Over centuries, women have been suppressed, their rights were neglected as a human being, they were created as a lower part of the society, and their roles were restricted to household chores and birthing. Prolonged oppression raised many voices and collectively led to a concept of feminism which started the longest movement in history which still continues.

Feminism is a group of socio-political movements and ideologies that share a common goal to delineate, establish and achieve political, economic, personal and social equality of sexes.
Feminist movements over decades have campaigned for rights of women, including the right to vote, to hold public office, to work, to earn fair wages or equal pay, to own property, to receive ~~education~~ education, to enter contracts, to have equal rights within marriage and to have maternity leave.
Feminists have also worked to promote bodily autonomy and integrity and to protect women and girls from brutal crimes such as rape, sexual harassment, harassment and domestic violence.

In most cases, misogynists do not know that they hate women. Misogyny is typically an unconscious hatred that men form early in life, often as a result of trauma involving a female figure they trusted! An abusive or negligent mother, sister, teacher or girlfriend can plant a seed deep down in their brain's subcortical matter.

Misogyny isn't a problem that started recently in our society, it is a problem that has been in the society for a very long time that is why it requires everyone, not just women to fight against it.