1. Attempt an incisive interrogation of Solomon A. Edebor's Good Morning Sodom, underscoring at least five underlying thematic thrusts the drama engages.

i. SEXUAL ASSAULT: This is when someone has sexual intercourse with someone either through violence or other means. This happened to Stella when her father left her with the pastor son and his friends. Because Stella was little she didn't pay attention to her surroundings and was raped by four guys. Also Keziah who was trying to avoid Demola's friendship and proposal also fell victim. Demola got his way using black magic with the help of his friend Kk who gave him a handkerchief and to make sure Keziah inhales it so that she can pass out.

ii. PEER PRESSURE: This has to do with when you are influenced in either a good or a bad way. Demola's friends influenced him in a bad way which was very easy for the fact that they were his acting parents. So they made him do drugs, have his way to take away Keziah's dignity and also join a cult group which eventually led to his death and expulsion from the university.

iii. SUICIDE ATTEMPT: Keziah did so for the fact she felt like a disgrace and a disappointment to her parents because she was pregnant. Her father kept treating her very badly and almost disowned her. Keziah got frustrated and took drugs in order to kill herself and her unborn child and end her parent's shame.

iv. CORRUPTION: This happened when the boys who raped Stella did not receive the punishment they deserve.

v. Prostitution

ii. Demola: Demola is a university student who comes from a wealthy home but with poor upbringing due to ignorance of his father and becomes a rebel but not a rebel at the same time and he is a very intelligent guy.

iii. Stella: Stella who is Keziah's friend is a God-fearing lady who advises Keziah about not being afraid about what happened and explained her hardship to Keziah.
