- 1. Attempt an incisive interrogation of Solomon A. Edebors Good Morning Sodom, underscoring at least five underlying thematic thrusts the drama engages.

Thematic thrusts involved in the drama includes rape, death, negligence, justice and cultism

RAPE; In the play written by Solomon edebor, the character Keziah is a wonderful Nigerian student who worked diligently until she fell into the trap of a fellow student Demola who was supposedly in love with her. Although Keziah refused to believe that Demola was actually in love with her but was pressurized by a friend into committing a heinous crime to Keziah, Demola never gave up the chase for her, even her friends talked her into giving Demola a chance but little did she know that the invite for a study session would bring her so much pain. In the play we see that when Keziah was in Demola's house, he offered her a drink which she took and basically fell asleep but when she woke up she realized she had been raped by him. Keziah got to her hostel in tears where she explained all that had happened to her, her roommate stella tried to calm her down but Keziah refused to be calm until stella reveals that she had also been raped by not one but four boys she tells her story to Keziah who eventually calms down.

DEATH; In the meantime, Demola and his friends spark and Kk were initiated into a cult called the red shadows. They were involved in an operation which led to the death of Demola and the arrest of the other cult members by the police officers. Demola was accidentally shot by kk instead of rival which kk had later confessed to Demola's parents because he regretted his actions. He also confessed that he was the one who negatively influenced Demola into doing all those heinous crimes.

NEGLIGENCE: Failure to exercise appropriate care regarding something or someone. In the play, we can spot various parts where parents were oblivious to what was going on in their wards lives. Beginning from Stella who was raped by her Pastor's son and this traumatized her greatly. Her Parents were so occupied that they were ignorant of the scar it had left. Going on from there, we have Demola who had lied to his parents at different occasions . One of which was regarding his stay off his campus.

JUSTICE; Spark, kk and other members of the cult were arrested during their operation, and are taken to the court where they are made to face trial. They present their case to the judge in which they were found guilty and charged and appropriate justice was passed onto them.

CULTISM: It is defined as a collection of people coming together on the principle of protecting their members and defending their interests. Cultism is practiced in various institutions in Nigeria and is a destructive concept in the educational development of tertiary institutions in Nigeria.

In relation to the play Good Morning Sodom, Cultism had led to various consequences and those involved in it had to pay in one way or the other. From this play, we could point out reasons why student were involved in Cultism which includes: fame, inborn trait of being sadist and influence from friends. Diran Demola who had fallen victim paid dearly with his life and was influenced by his friend, Nkanga Nwoko who was later sentenced to life imprisonment for murdering Demola and had to pay a fine for involving in cult activities. As much as they thought they had benefits, the consequences had hit them harder and left them with regrets.
