FIRST QUESTION

Attempt an incisive interrogation of Solomon A. Edebor's good morning sodom, underscoring at least five thematic thrust the drama engages.

ANSWER

In the drama of good morning sodom by Solomon A. Edebor, which talks about the circumstances surrounding the relationship between demola and kezia.

There are underlying thematic thrust in this drama. One of them is the theme of betrayal. At the beginning of the drama, keziah never wanted anything to do with demola. It was after alot of pleading that she decided to become friends. After putting her trust in him, demola let's her down by drugging her and raping her. She felt a sense of betrayal, disgust and disdain for demola.

Another theme in this drama is the theme of bad influence. Demola had become an easy target for bad influence. He kept friends that didn't impact anything good in him, they led him into doing unspeakable things, lying to his parents and even joining a cult. This finally led to his death in a gang war.

Thirdly the theme of rape. In this drama two people were raped. Keziah and stella. The incident of keziah's rape led confession of Steele's sexual assault experience. According to a drama stella had being raped seven years ago by her pastor's children and their friends. Due to this incident, it made stella distance herself from God. The rape also made keziah pregnant. Not only that but made her parents misunderstand her situation.

Fourthly, unwanted pregnancy. Due to the assault inflicted on keziah by demola, keziah became pregnant. Because of the pregnancy, she couldn't go to school. Not only that, her parents were disappointed at her to the extent that her father wanted her to abort the pregnancy. At one point she became frustrated and tried to take her own life.

Lastly, the theme of cultism. In the drama, cultism had a very big impact on the downfall of some characters. It costed demola his life, some students were expelled and some were arrested.
